Foreword

"Here is the gate to the sea" . . . the sea of study, good times and companionship. As we unlock the pages here before us, we see the story of many hard hours of work in class, the good times shared by all in extracurricular activities, and the forming of strong friendships that will last throughout the years.

"Once you unlocked it for me" . . . As we reminisce through the many happy hours here at our Alma Mater, we remember the helpful guidance we received from teachers and parents, who unlocked the door to the vast sea of knowledge for us.

"Now since you gave me the key, shall I unlock it for you?" . . . We would like to take you with us as we look back to the yesterdays when we received the key and look forward to the tomorrows where we shall unlock the door to success for ourselves and others.

Four decades ago, St. Marys proudly opened its first hospital. Small, then, in a very short time, it was inadequate to fill the needs of an ever expanding population. Today, still retaining the charm of its pristine personal interest in each patient, and in the spiritual and physical welfare of our townsmen, it is great and ever growing. It is meeting every need as it arises, and is hailed by surgeons and physicians as "Hospital Heaven." ANDREW KAUL MEMORIAL HOSPITAL stands a blessing to our Community. We face life with greater confidence, we are reassured, we are grateful always, for the expert services of an exceptionally competent staff, complex personnel, and volunteers required for the proper functioning of this organization, and we are grateful for the able Administration which directs all, with but one end in view—to serve, and to make this service its praise to God, seeing Him and serving Him in man.

In appreciation of the efforts of all who have made our Hospital the "key" establishment it is, from the Pioneers on down, to the hundreds working there today, with the same unselfish devotion, to make ours, a better life, WE, the Class of nineteen hundred sixty-one, gratefully dedicate this thirty-second edition of the MEMO.

Father Donald is Secretary of the School Board as well as Principal of the High School. He is a well liked and respected Administrator. His good judgment and sense of fairness enable him to keep peace and cooperation between teachers and students. The ability with which he handles the many problems of the day makes it difficult to realize what a big job his really is.

CENTRAL HIGH FAMILY ASSOCIATION

The Association, dedicated to creating a better understanding between Faculty, Students, Parents and the People of St. Marys, this year sponsored adult evening classes: two English classes, instructor, Mr. Wittman; General Mathematics, Mr. Lupton; two Physics, Mr. Mallison and Mr. Dornisch; Metal Shop, Mr. Werner; and Wood Shop, Mr. Dostal.

Under the chairmanship of Mr. Jerome Straub, they sponsored bus trips to the Passion Play at St. Vincent on two separate days, March 25, 26.

They offered an outstanding Student Award—a $100.00 Bond,—for a Senior who would meet the requirements set forth by the Family Association, namely, a consistently above-average record, a conscientious desire to conform both with the spirit and letter of all school rules of conduct and behavior; participation in school, Church, and civic affairs; high moral character and leadership qualities, ability to be helpful, cooperative, respected and admired by teachers.

The Association helped financially with the expenses of the Science Fair and Forensic activities. The Members of the Family Association were helpful in offering suggestions and acting as chaperons for the various student social affairs.

CLASSES

Religion Directs Us Toward Self-

We, all five hundred and forty of us, attend classes in Religion—the basic subject of our curriculum—during each of our four years in high school. Three Benedictine Fathers and six Benedictine Sisters teach us to practice as well as study our Faith, by making use of the means of grace, sacrifice and prayer. A weekly dialogue Mass with an opportunity for reception of Holy Communion assists us to live a virtuous life. The Catholic Students' Mission Crusade, to which all students belong, by means of a monthly meeting encourages prayer, sacrifice and study for the Missions at home and afield.

Throughout the year, our religious life is enriched by various exercises and devotions. In October the entire student body was consecrated to the Sacred Heart, and a special Retreat Day was conducted by Father Charles Weber, O.S.B. Advent wreaths make us conscious of the coming of Christ at Christmas and the need of preparing our hearts for this great feast. Holy Mass and Holy Communion on the First Friday of each month bring us closer to the Sacred Heart of Jesus and train us in the practice of making the nine First Fridays. Being reminded of the various feasts of the saints as they occur establishes a sense of belonging to the Communion of Saints. The season of Lent and Holy Week trains us in the spirit of prayer and sacrifice and the necessity of penance for everyone. Religion posters and contests along with talks on vocations form a part of our Guidance Program. The solemn and colorful procession for crowning our Blessed Mother as Queen of May dedicates us to our heavenly Mother.

The officers of C.S.M.C., James Engel, Vice-President, Patricia Donahue, Treasurer, Edward Lynch, President, and Mary DeLullo, Secretary, are checking information in "The Shield" before a monthly meeting.

Social Studies Expand Our Outlook

Our History class prior to the election

Central High School students took an active part in the presidential campaign as they attended a bi-partisan political parade and rally.

The parade was led by senior Eagle Scout Andy Ritter who carried the flag.

The Nixon and Lodge supporters followed with their displays. At the end of the Republicans was an open convertible in which Robert Roberts, dressed as Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, rode.

The Democrats then followed and they too had their candidate in an open convertible. Jack Kerner took the part of Senator John F. Kennedy.

The parade formed on Center Street, proceeded up Church Street and entered the school lot by the Maurus Street entrance.

As soon as the students were assembled in the parking lot, speeches were given by Robert Resch representing the Student Committee for Nixon-Lodge and Steve Whiteman representing the Student Committee for Kennedy-Johnson.

The final event of the program was the singing of "God Bless America," and the Central High School "Alma Mater" under the direction of Ethel Friedl. The chairman was James Engel.

Numerous spectators were present at the event including some of the local candidates and many commented on the excellence of the program.

All speeches were given from a special rostrum set up at the Industrial Arts Building. The school public address system was used and the rostrum was decorated with bunting giving it a patriotic appearance.

SOCIAL STUDIES

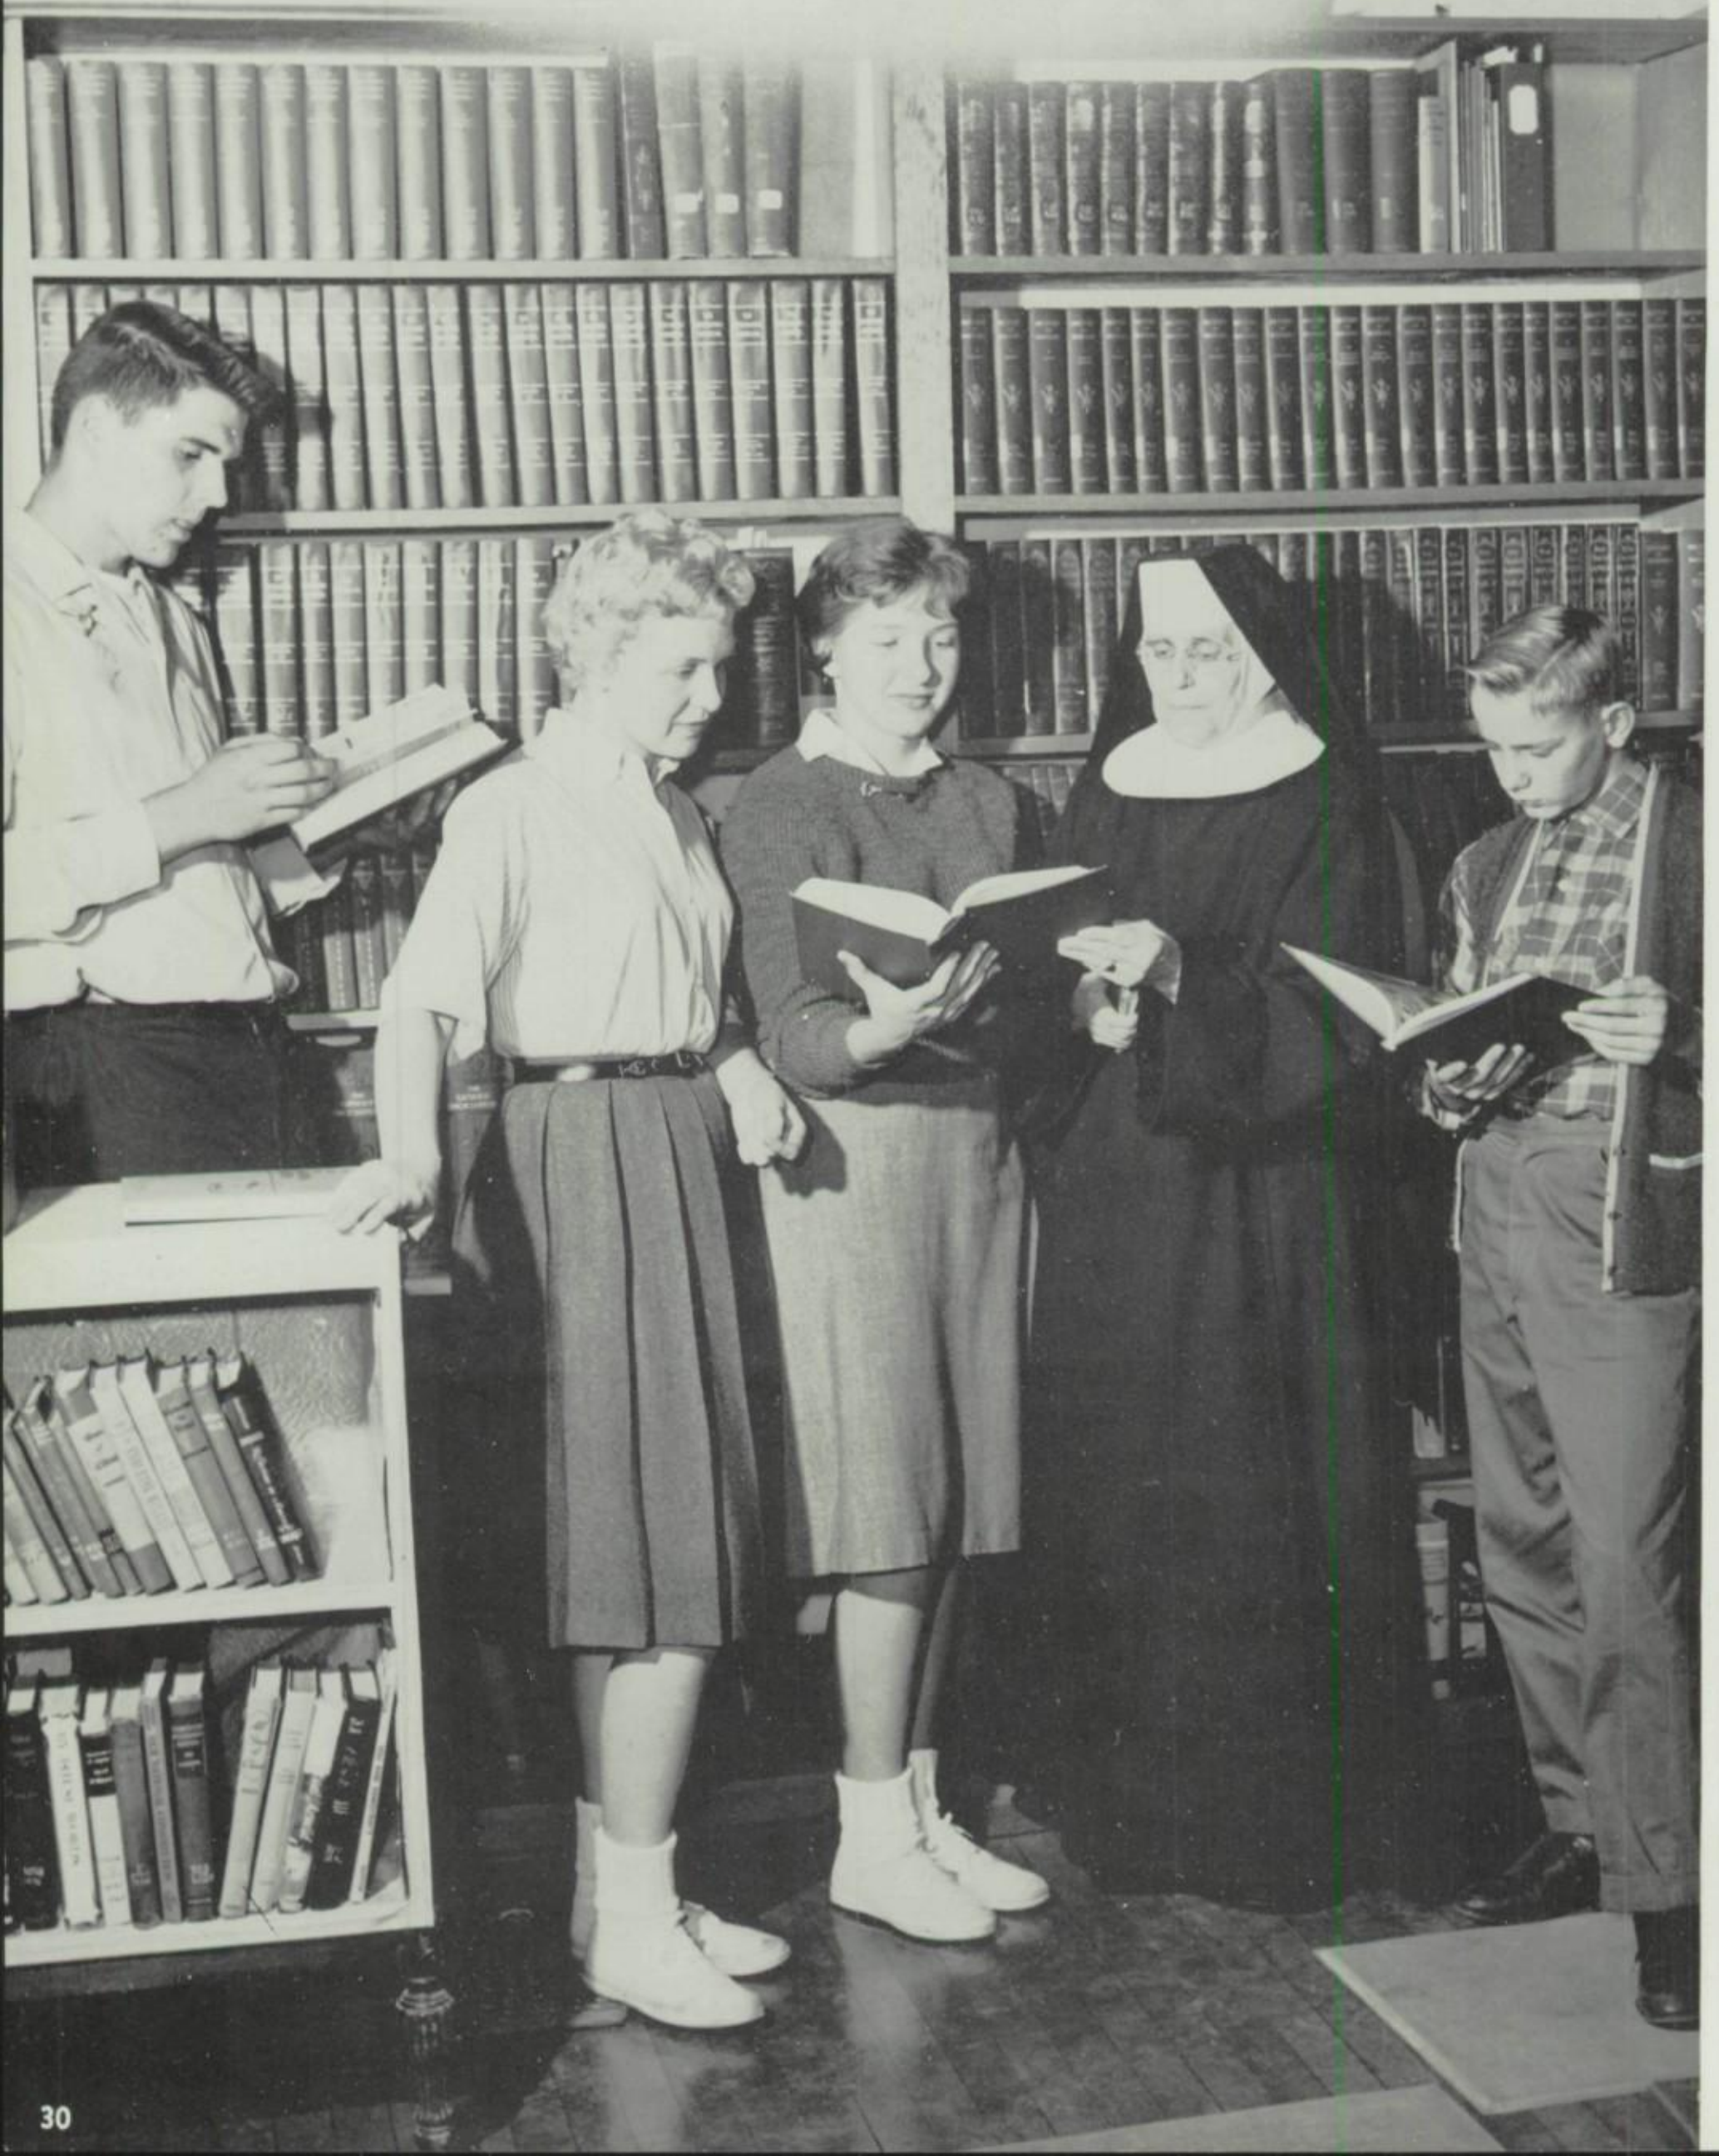

Social Studies develop in us a love for our country and of the world—a love we need in order to appreciate the wonders of God more fully. One hundred seventy-six Freshmen learn the functions of our government in Civics and Pennsylvania History; one hundred thirty-three Juniors study the history of our country in American History; and the culture, as well as the history of our neighbors, is the scope of the one hundred nineteen Seniors in World Culture.

English is one of the most important subjects of the curriculum. Our English teachers, in conjunction with the library, foster in us the correct usages of a language we will employ during our entire lives. All five hundred forty students strive for a mastery of their language by means of Grammar, Vocabulary, Poetry and Prose writing. The library provides numerous references for these subjects and thus supplements the knowledge of our native tongue.

Foreign Lands Open Their Doors

LANGUAGE COURSES

Fifteen German, forty-one Spanish, and seventy-three Latin students this year are learning the customs and mores of the different countries as well as how to speak, read, and understand the languages. The knowledge of how many of our English words stem from these roots, especially from Latin, is of great value in understanding our own language, as well as that of others.

Does this look easy? Mary J. Rigard must have strong muscles to support Zoe Ann Grosser on hands and feet. Miss Reuscher is skeptical.

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Health for all Sophomores, and Physical Education for Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors, emphasize care of the human body, exercise playing an important part. First-aid, nutrition and good grooming, too, form a part of the course. Physical examinations and tests for defective vision and hearing are included.

DRIVER TRAINING

Not only to learn to drive, but to learn how to maintain and service efficiently is the aim of the Driver-Training course introduced at Central. Surveys show that these courses have decreased the accident rate of students and the value is determined by the human lives and suffering it has saved. Through the courtesy of Fulton & King, the pride and joy of Central is a new 1961 powder blue Chevrolet. Thomas Hauber and John McGill Consult the Traveling Science Library.

In order to keep in step with a rapidly moving America, Central provides a fine science course. 194 General Science students learn the fundamentals of the ways science affects us daily. 103 Sophomores study the foundations of life in Biology. The 16 Physical Science boys are subjected to the basic principles of the consumer aspects of science. 60 Juniors delve into nature's mysteries in Chemistry, and 25 Seniors learn how to apply the physical laws in their daily lives.

This year we were fortunate to come into possession of 160 Chemistry and 162 Physics films, a rare treasure, purchased for us from the Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Inc. Dr. John F. Baxter, head of the division of Chemical Education at the University of Florida, is "master teacher" of the former, and Dr. Harvey White, vice chairman of the department of Physics at the University of California, "teaches" the half-hour lectures and laboratory sessions, in Physics.

We were privileged to have available the entire year, all 200 books of the Traveling High School Science Library, obtained from the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the National Science Foundation. These books cover all the various fields of science and mathematics.

and a Science

Ninety-five Freshman girls are beginning their first formal training in Homemaking experiences. These girls follow a series of classes in "Clothing" and in "Cookery and Foods." The former includes a study of fabrics, their uses and care, the selections of pleasing color combinations and becoming styles for different figure types, and learning the basic skills of sewing. The students have an opportunity of putting into practice what they learn by constructing various garments for themselves or others.

"Cookery and Food" classes teach the girls not only the needs for proper foods, but also how to select them, the best techniques in preparing them, the attractive way of serving them, and last, but not least, the joy of tasting and appreciating them. The girls usually feel a little apprehensive as they don their aprons and walk to their cooking unit for the first time, but this soon changes to satisfaction and pride in their accomplishment as they display a well-prepared dish.

Commercials Plan Today

COMMERCIAL

The commercial department offers a variety of subjects to prepare students for the world of business. This year one hundred and four are beginning typing and twenty-seven are in advanced typing. Fifty-one Juniors are studying stenography I, and twenty-three Seniors, stenography II. One year of bookkeeping is offered to fifty-five Sophomores, business arithmetic to thirty-five Juniors, and office practice to twenty Seniors. Familiarity with and skill in the use of various office machines equip our students with the efficiency to successfully cope with the strenuous demands made on office personnel in this highly technical world.

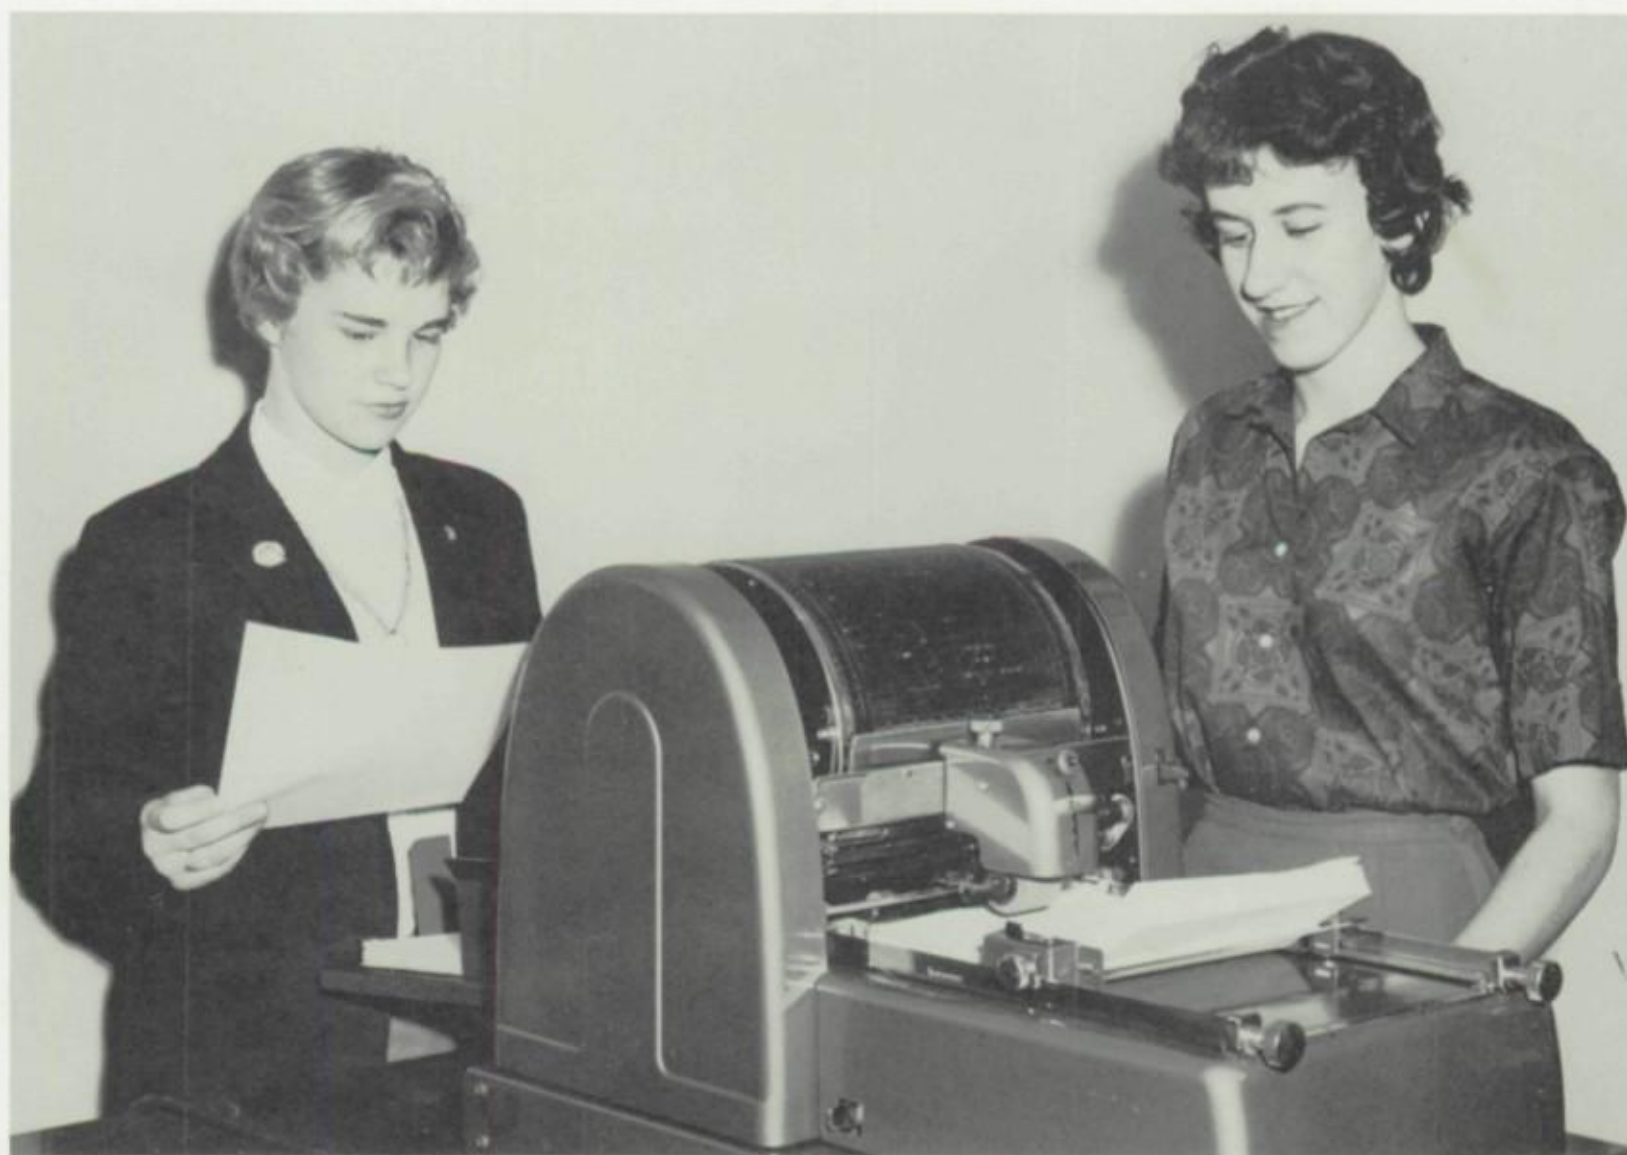

Ann Ford receives direction in shorthand from Sister Bernadette.

for Security Tomorrow

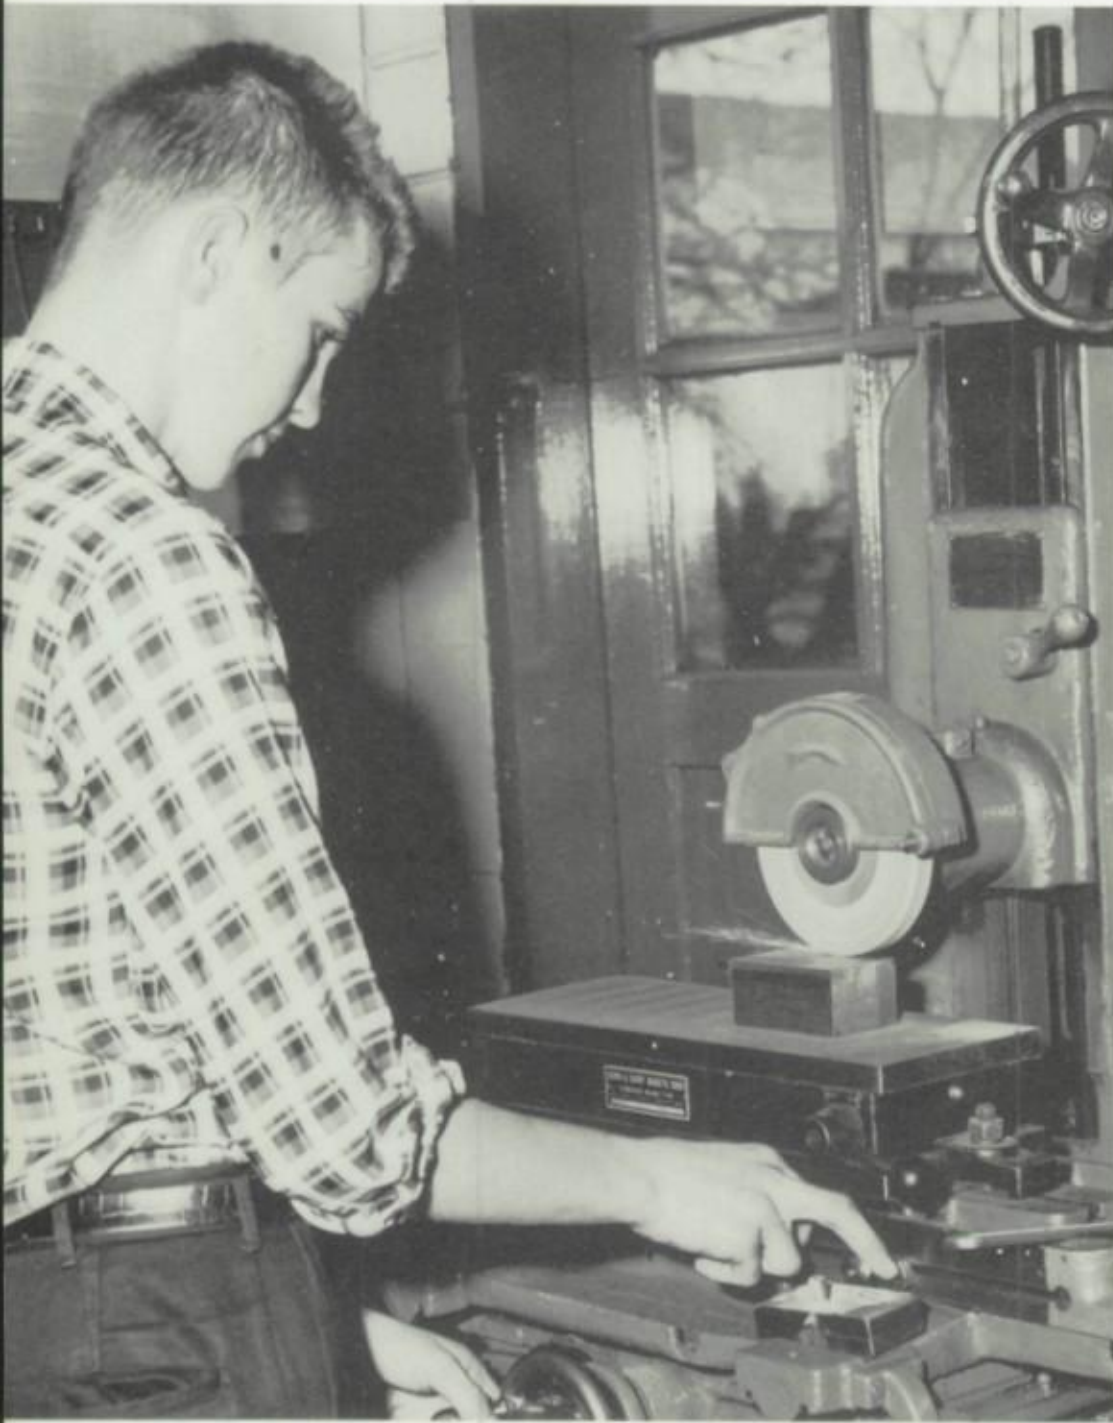

Sister Capistran demonstrated correct posture in typing for Jeanne Prechtl.

Phyllis Wright and Barbara Zamboldi apply their knowledge in the operation of the mimeograph machine.

Industrial Art Courses

George Hasselman uses the "surface grinder."

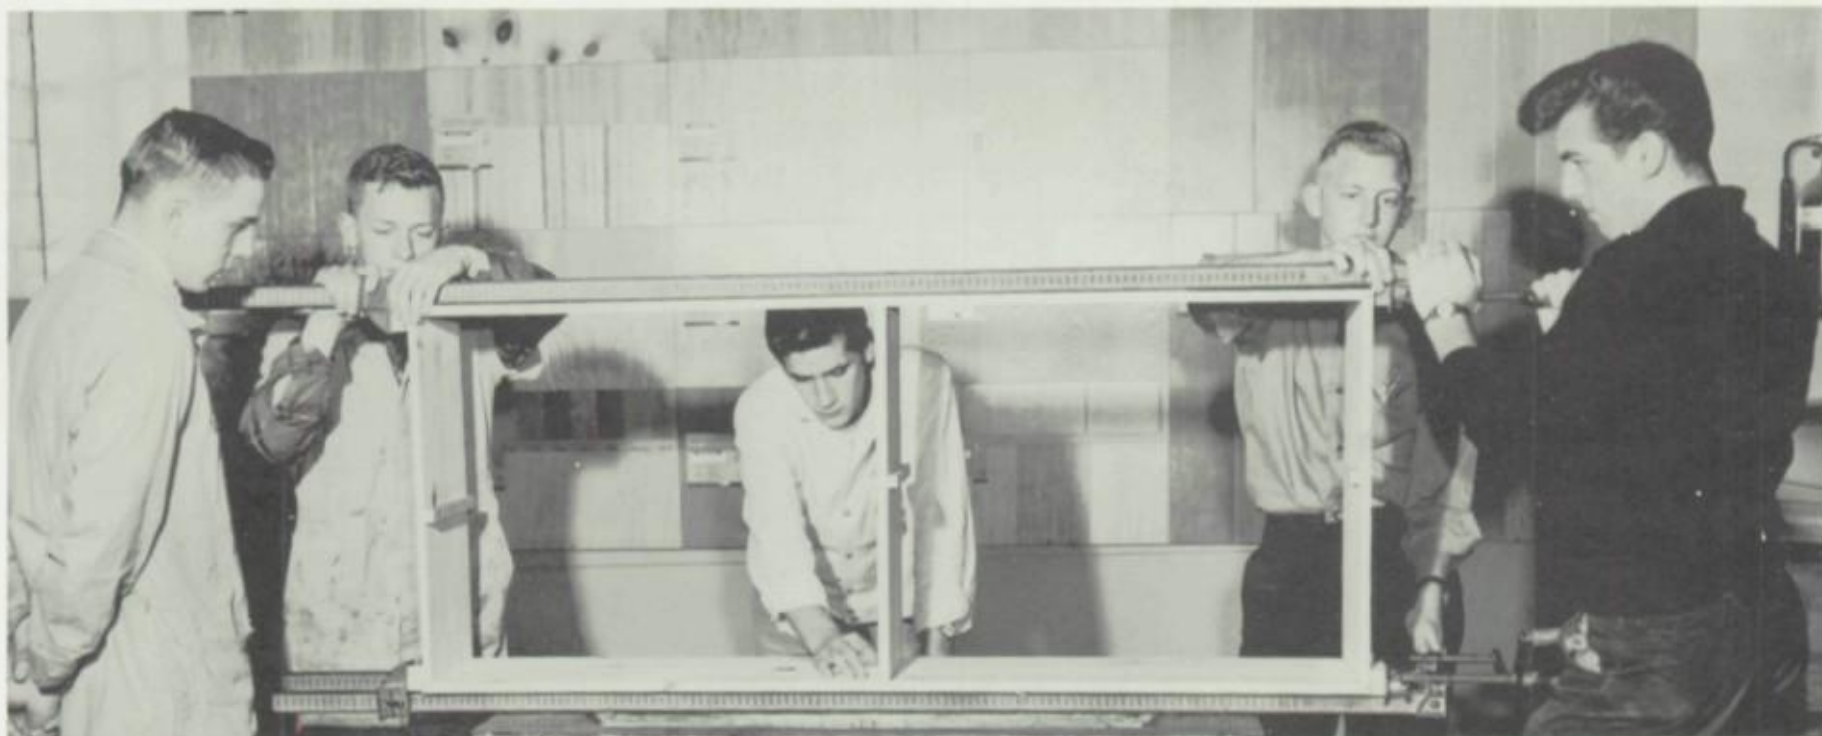

In the Industrial Arts department, courses in woodcraft, metalcraft and mechanical drawing are offered, providing the students with an opportunity to develop technical skills and gain experience that will be valuable aids toward obtaining employment after graduation. The students get a background that will help them fit into the world of work which is the basis of our industrial society. Each of the 70 male freshmen this year is given an opportunity to learn the use of hand tools and simple wood and metal working machines in building projects that reap satisfaction for beginners. 44 juniors and seniors through planning and construction of more complex projects learn something about industry and business values. This provides a basis for occupational choice and development and consumer values as well.

61 students are given adequate instruction in the art of mechanical drawing—an experience that will prove beneficial to them in later life.

Mr. Werner instructs Richard Schutz, James Heary and William VanSlander in the use of the "shaper."

Develop "Handyman" Skills

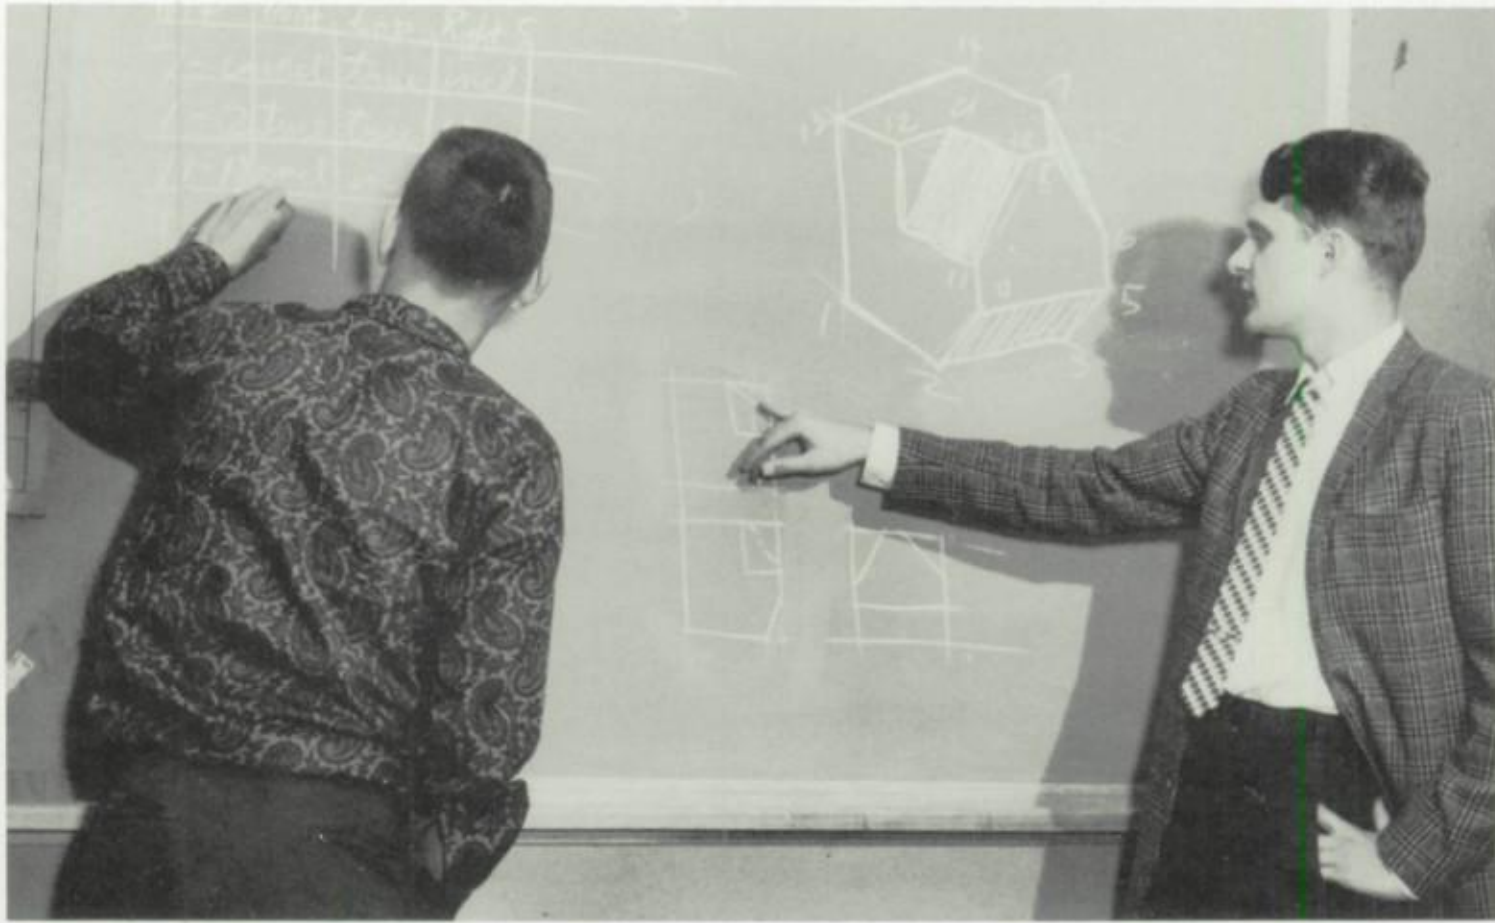

Mr. Dostal watches George Breindel, Joseph Piccolo, Dale Bille and Roger Wykoff clamp a large project together, checking it to make sure it comes out square.

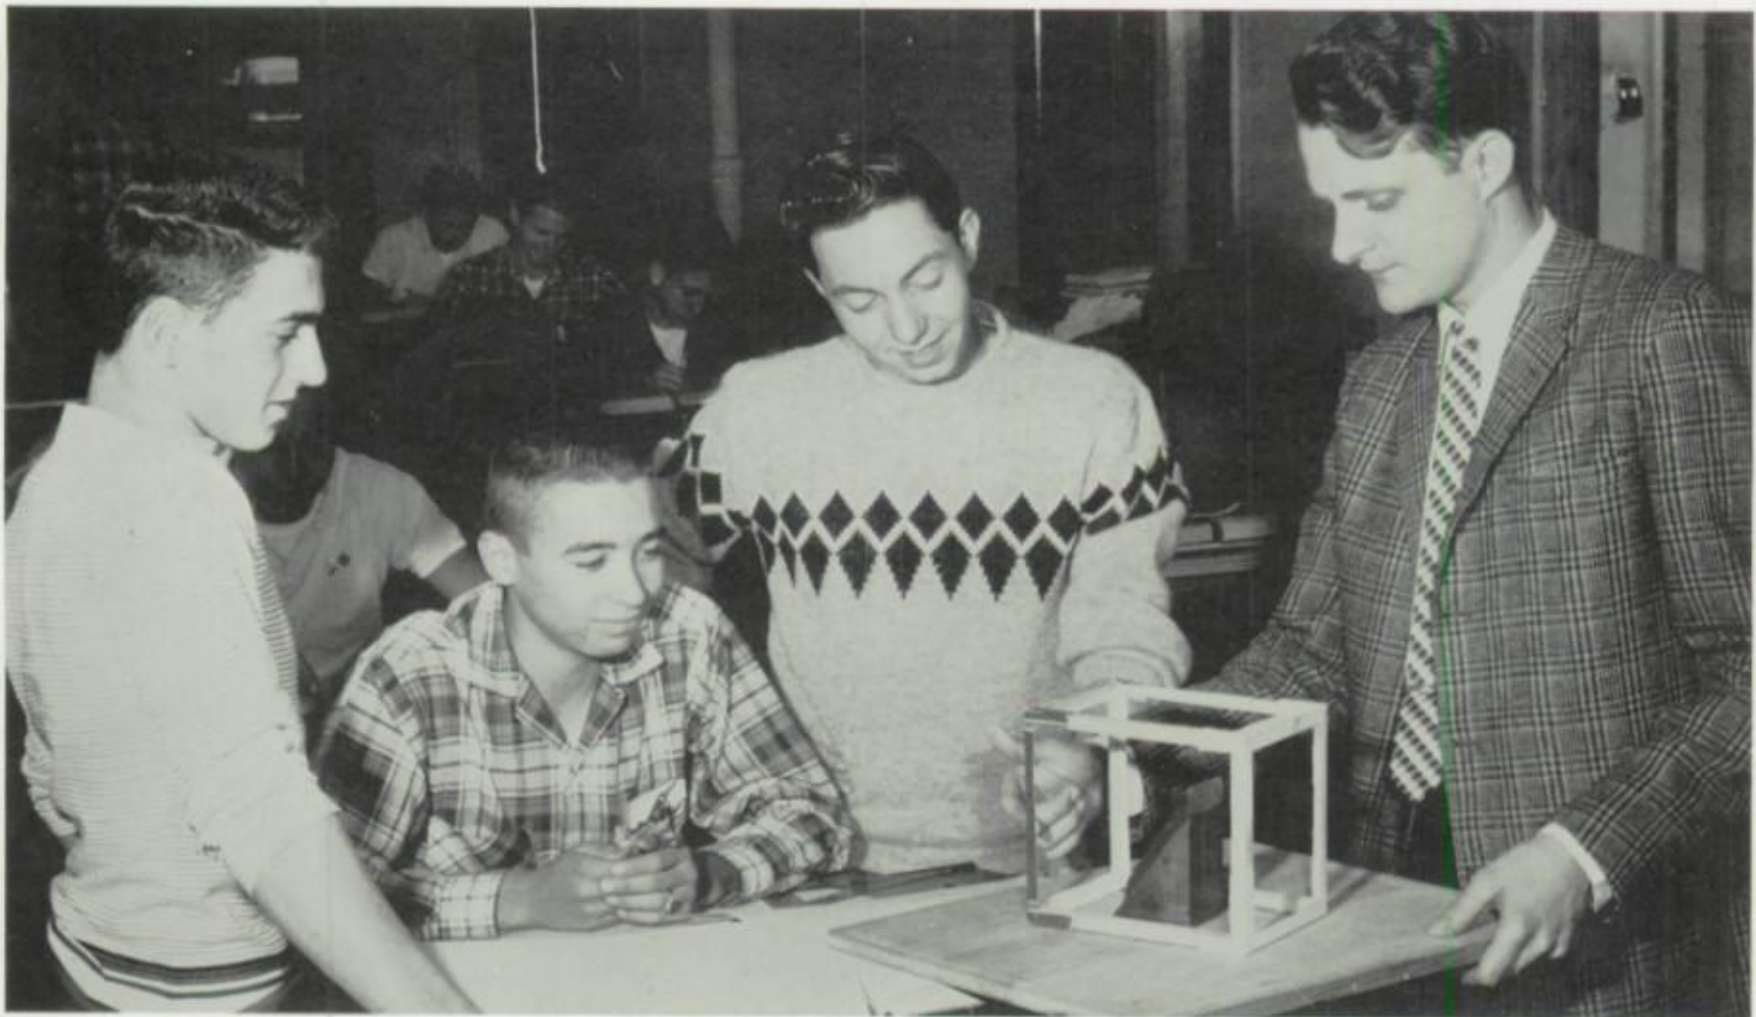

This play dinette set of Anthony Sherry was the first project completed (October).

Our Math Courses Prepare Us

Mr. Dornisch explains the mystery of analyzing lines and planes to James McAllister.

Timothy Straub, David Gabler and Ronald Feldbauer are interested in Orthographic - Projection, as demonstrated by Mr. Dornisch.

To Take Our Places in a

MATHEMATICS

The challenging subject of mathematics is undertaken by 83% of the enrollment. One of the primary purposes for which these students study mathematics is to develop their thinking powers. Two hundred forty-three Freshmen and Sophomores are involved with equations and factoring in algebra. Learning the proper expression of mathematical ideas is the goal of forty-five Sophomores in general mathematics. Plane geometry, a subject of lines and angles, is the study of seventy-five Juniors. Forty-one Seniors, in trigonometry and solid geometry, explore the mysteries of more advanced fields of mathematics, while thirty-one Senior boys are instructed in the techniques of trade mathematics, which is correlated with their industrial arts course. Twelve other Seniors are preparing for college by a class in introductory analytic geometry and calculus. Thus all students have adequate opportunities to develop the skills which are so much in demand in the scientific world today.

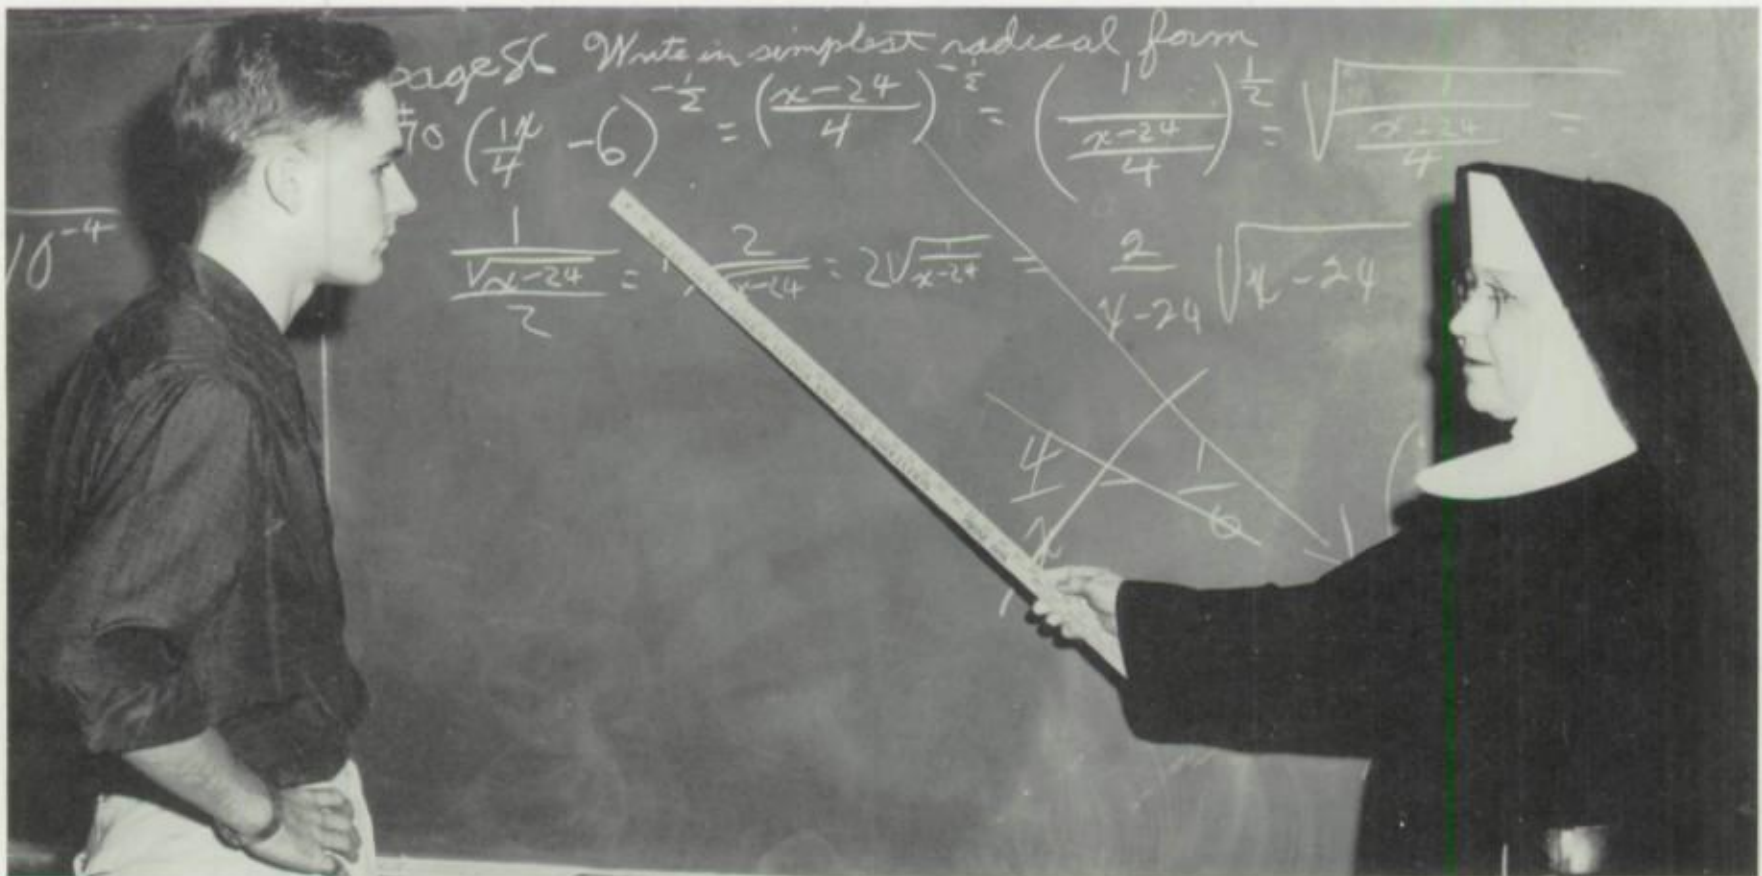

Mrs. Mulcahy, in Algebra II, holds the attention of her class, as she explains a step in factoring.

Highly Technical World

Michael Kneidel acquires the intricate skill of using Trig. tables from Mr. Lupton.

John Kerner prepares for college through the Advanced Mathematics class taught by Sister Imelda.

Change Student From Mexico gregates With Centralites

The idea of a Mexican exchange student was first introduced by M. Evangelist, O. S. B., to her Spanish class on November the weeks following were weeks of quick decisions and hasty action, but on December 10, two Mexican girls arrived in St. Marys. One is attending St. Marys Public High School, and the other came here to Central where she has become a familiar face to the student body.

Marinela Garcia Castellanos, a pretty, dark-eyed "senorita" from Mexico, is only five feet, three inches tall. She and her family, Srs. Juan Garcia H. Castellanos; brother, Juan, and Evalyn and Julia, live in Mexico City.

She is a "Secundaria," equivalent to our Sophomore, in El Instituto Pedagogico Anglo Espanol, a girls' school, where FOUND: NEW USE FOR SOAP!

Artists of Central are being given the chance to show their creative ability by means of soap carving. With knife in hand, an image in mind, the soap rapidly begins taking shape. Before long a new entrant for the National Soap Sculpture Committee has been created.

Carving in soap offers a medium for self expression at such a small cost and with so few necessary tools, that everyone, no matter how limited their budget, can afford to try their hand at it and obtain satisfaction and enjoyment.

Many prizes and honorable mentions are offered as consolations. The prizes range from $200 in the First Prize class to $25 and $10 in the Honorable Mentions.

Seniors Take Aim At A Central First

Central's Seniors displayed a fine sense of enthusiasm and spirit in responding to a meet one night after school to organize a choral group—for Seniors only. This group consists of both boys and girls, and is operated on a strictly volunteer basis. According to Mr. Robert Wittman, director, the chorus is approaching its third practice session.

The main objective of this choir is to produce a Senior Class project. If work progresses as spontaneously as it has been, the goal of a two-part Mass arrangement will be achieved.

The singing of the Mass for graduation with the possibility of several other social functions will be included in their schedule.

The MEMO tells the story of our school, of its 31 Faculty members, its 540 students, and the many memorable events which highlighted the 1960-61 school year. Not only staff members, but other co-operative seniors sacrificed Saturdays and free time to prepare copy sheets, solicit Patrons, and meet deadlines. Countless hours of work made this year's annual possible, but we feel that the finished product was well worth the journalistic effort.

MUSIC

The various choirs, directed by Benedictine Sisters of St. Marys, Sacred Heart and Queen of the World Parishes, enjoy giving their time and talent on numerous occasions in singing for the honor and glory of God at Mass and other Church services. This is the first year that the Queen of the World Freshmen are continuing choir work after grade school.

Under the capable direction of Mrs. Edwin Wittman, Juniors and Seniors have a weekly practice on Wednesdays after school, to perfect their singing and acquire musical experience, learning many new numbers in preparation for the spring concert and also for graduation.

We Enjoy Ourselves

Our first Exchange student is from Mexico—Marinelo Garcia Castellanos, who is staying at Barbara Horvatin's home. She attends classes daily, and spends some time studying English. In Mexico, the main vacation is in December and January, so Mari is not missing any regular school now. Barbara will pay a return visit during the summer months. Mari has seen her first snow, taken in her first basketball game and eaten her first spaghetti dinner. Her only complaint is the cold, which she never experienced to such an extreme as 20 degrees. She likes St. Marys and our school—she says the teachers are very good, especially the mothers (meaning the Sisters).

FORENSIC

The Forensic League of St. Marys Catholic High School has sixty members this year. Of this number, twenty-six are Freshmen, and the remainder, upperclassmen. Through constant effort and painful application, four students have achieved the coveted award of Distinction Membership, earning for themselves two hundred points, and have been in Semi-Final competition of the Diocese. One of these, Robert Jambro, went to New York City to compete in National Forensic competition. This year, twenty students earned certificates to become members of the National Catholic Forensic League.

What does a student get out of Forensic competition? First of all, a certain sense of satisfaction and achievement. Secondly, the overcoming of shyness in facing others, and lastly, the ability to think on his feet. Competition is not always based on a memorized speech. This not being the case, the student has a chance to express his own views, convince his hearers and really save the question for himself in Debate or Student Congress. Many hard fought word battles have been won by the student's power of persuasion in getting people to think his way. If students can carry out this objective along the lines of Christian Morality and Righteousness, who can say how much good can be done in industry, business or other vocations?

In this day and age, when teenagers are labelled delinquents, it is consoling to know that this term does not apply to all teenagers. At any of the tournaments, it is encouraging to know that there is no property damage done, no abusive language used, and everybody goes home happy with a sense of good feeling that he has not let his school down. The desire to be better the next time needs no push from the speech moderator. In this way the students strive for perfection in the school of comparisons.

THESPIAN DRAMATIC TROUPE

In September, our Thespians started out with enthusiasm to make this the best year our members ever had. Officers honored for the year were: President John Kerner; Vice-President and Troupe Reporter, Michele Daley; Secretary Ethel Friedl, and Treasurer Steve Whiteman.

Best Thespian certificates were received by John Kerner and Edith Mohr. Edward Lynch, Steve Whiteman, Sara Kronenwetter, Mary Lechner, Jeanne Dippold, Michele Daley and Esthel Friedl received the distinction of "Honor Thespians."

"Haunts for Hire" and "Jacob Comes Home," one-act plays, were produced in October and November, respectively; "To You, A Savior," a choric pageant, for Christmas. "His First Shave," a one-act play, and "The Car Stopped" skit, for Father Timothy's Name-day. "Here Come the Brides," a three-act farce, was produced January 15, 16. This was lauded highly by the public, as each character played his part well, and it was one of the best enjoyed plays we have had. A full act play, "The Red Shoes," was presented for Father Timothy's Golden and Father Donald's Silver Anniversaries.

The annual Regional Conference this year was a gala affair. Not only the eastern and Western regions of Pennsylvania, but Ohio, Maryland and New Jersey united and had a two days' celebration, attended by a number of delegates of our Troupe. This was held at Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa., April 14-15.

Since we became a chartered member of the National Thespian Society, Troupe 658 has 260 full-fledged Thespians. Once individuals are initiated, they become "Thespians" for life. In this organization, there are 2128 affiliated schools with 378,560 student initiates.

JUNIOR PROM

On a cool, threatening evening of May twenty-seventh, our gym was majestically transformed from a basketball court to A Summer Place.

For three rapidly moving hours, handsome young gentlemen waltzed beautiful young ladies to the enjoyable melodies of The Aristocrats.

And while they were dancing, it was evident that the Juniors had selected the correct orchestra to weave a lasting spell over the guests. Yes, this evening would always hold a prominent spot in their eager minds.

The focus of everyone's attention was the huge centerpiece constructed by talented Junior craftsmen. It was a beautiful water fountain with a spotlight casting its rays on the showering jets of bluish-tinted water.

Our "Summer Place" was appropriately decorated for the occasion in blue and white with lovely gold sequined letters spelling out the theme of this memorable night. Roses were placed on each of the tables with artificial multi-colored flowers adorning the walls. Undoubtedly, the decorating committee had fulfilled everyone's fondest dreams.

Chosen to reign over the evening's festivities were Roger Wykoff and Nancy Shadd. The spell lasted for only three hours. And at twelve-thirty the magic ceased. Minutes later, the gym was quiet. The next day it was a basketball court once again. The rapid pace of life for us was forgotten on that, the night of the Junior Prom.

Students Pause to Honor

Constance Schlimm, May Queen, had the honor of crowning the Blessed Mother at the Sacred Heart Church. Her attendants were seniors, Mary Valentine, Mary Lynn Scull, JoAnne Erich, Mary Bauer; juniors, Rita Hnath, Elizabeth Schloder; sophomores, Bernadette Wegemer, Mary Crowe and freshman Sally Kneidel, crown bearer.

The bier on which our Lady was carried by senior boys, William DeLullo, Ralph Zitzler, Thomas Goetz, Thomas Engel, was ornamented with huckleberry fern and window-box flowers. The queen in white carried a bouquet of orchids; the attendants in spring colors and matching hats, carried carnations.

After the lower classes had taken their places in church, the procession, consisting of senior students, cross bearer and two acolytes, May Queen and her court, followed by the statue of the Blessed Virgin, Father Donald and two servers, advanced down the center aisle towards the altar.

The gem-studded gold crown intertwined with smilax and begonias was then blessed by Father Donald. Appropriate hymns in honor of Our Lady were sung during the ceremony. Following the crowning, Father Paul addressed the assembled group, dwelling on the virtues of the Blessed Mother.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament fittingly climaxed the solemnity.

SCIENCE CLUB

The U 'N I 'N Science Club was organized by Sister M. Genevieve, O.S.B., in March, 1960, with eighteen Charter members and was affiliated with the Science Clubs of America. The Charter Members were: Frank Grunthaner, Gary Grunthaner, Nils Frey, Sara Kronenwetter, Ethel Friedl, Robert Jambro, William Grieggs, Christine Sorg, Dorothy Sain, Edward Munson, William Pistner, Benedict Kronenwetter, Francis Fischer, James Snelick, Sandra Fischer, Nancy Grotzinger, Marilyn Frey, Donald Erich. The present membership includes twenty regular members and five associate members.

The purposes of the Club are to engineer a bigger and better School Science Fair, to expand each member's knowledge of science, and to explore the use of science in St. Marys. The first purpose is being carried out by making and displaying posters in the high school and in the three grade schools, by arousing interest through pep talks to the seventh and eighth graders by Club Members, by urging individuals to plan and execute a science project. The second purpose is given an impetus by having the members pool their individual interests in the fields of biology, mechanics, chemistry, and physics, and by group meetings, carry out various experiments. The third purpose lends itself to tours of local industries, and to having speakers present various careers to the Club members.

The trips taken by the Club members have included a guided tour through the Modern Dairy, the hospital labs, W.K.B.I. Broadcasting Station, Crystal Bottling Works, Straub's Brewery, and Stackpole's electrical and chemical labs. A bus trip to Pittsburgh was taken to attend a Science Fair Clinic, and to tour the Buhl Planetarium and Carnegie Museum. Speakers who have addressed the Club were Dr. Pitzer on Chiropractic Practice, Sister M. Paula, O.S.B., R.N. on hospital careers, Mr. Fred Servey on wildlife conservation and Mr. Benedict Huefner on car motors.

SCIENCE FAIR

On February 4, a remarkable display of ingenious thought and scientific talent was evident in the seventy-seven projects exhibited in the basement of Central High. Fifteen entries came from the high school, fourteen from St. Marys Grade School, thirty-one from Sacred Heart School, and seventeen from Queen of the World School. These projects included many facets of modern science, including, for example, the art of soap making, applied mechanics, electronic devices and biological and medical research.

On Saturday morning the display was judged by Mr. Robert Eberl of St. Marys, and by Mr. Larry Roche and Mr. Peter Weishmann of Ridgway. Due to the heavy snowfall in this vicinity other out-of-town judges were prevented from participating. From two to five in the afternoon the public was invited to attend the Fair. Father Donald, O.S.B., gave an address in which he congratulated the students on their achievements and commended the teachers for their efforts in stimulating scientific talent in their pupils. He then awarded the prizes. In the Senior Division, first prize—gold medal on key chain and fifteen dollars worth of science materials was awarded to Theodore Krellner and Roger Hoffman for their "Visible Electricity"; second prize—silver medal on key chain and ten dollars worth of science materials to Robert Jambro for his "Homo 'Sapiens' Circulation"; third prize—bronze medal on key chain and five dollars worth of science materials to Thomas Wegemer for his "Vacuum Tube"; honorable mention—two books on science to Stephen Dornisch for his "Diode and Transistor Theory," and to John Zelt and James Snelick for their "Electrostatic Generator." In the Junior Division, the first prize went to Joan Pistner for her "Bumblebee and Development," second prize to Susan Landis for her "Math as a Science," third prize to Lois Roth for her "Volcano." Honorable mention was given to Gayle Erich, Constance Kerner, Carolyn Ehrensberger, Richard Gahr, David Nedzinski, Stephen Pontzer, Kathleen Ehrensberger, Carol Saline, Judy Covac, Robert Keim and Joseph Pontzer.

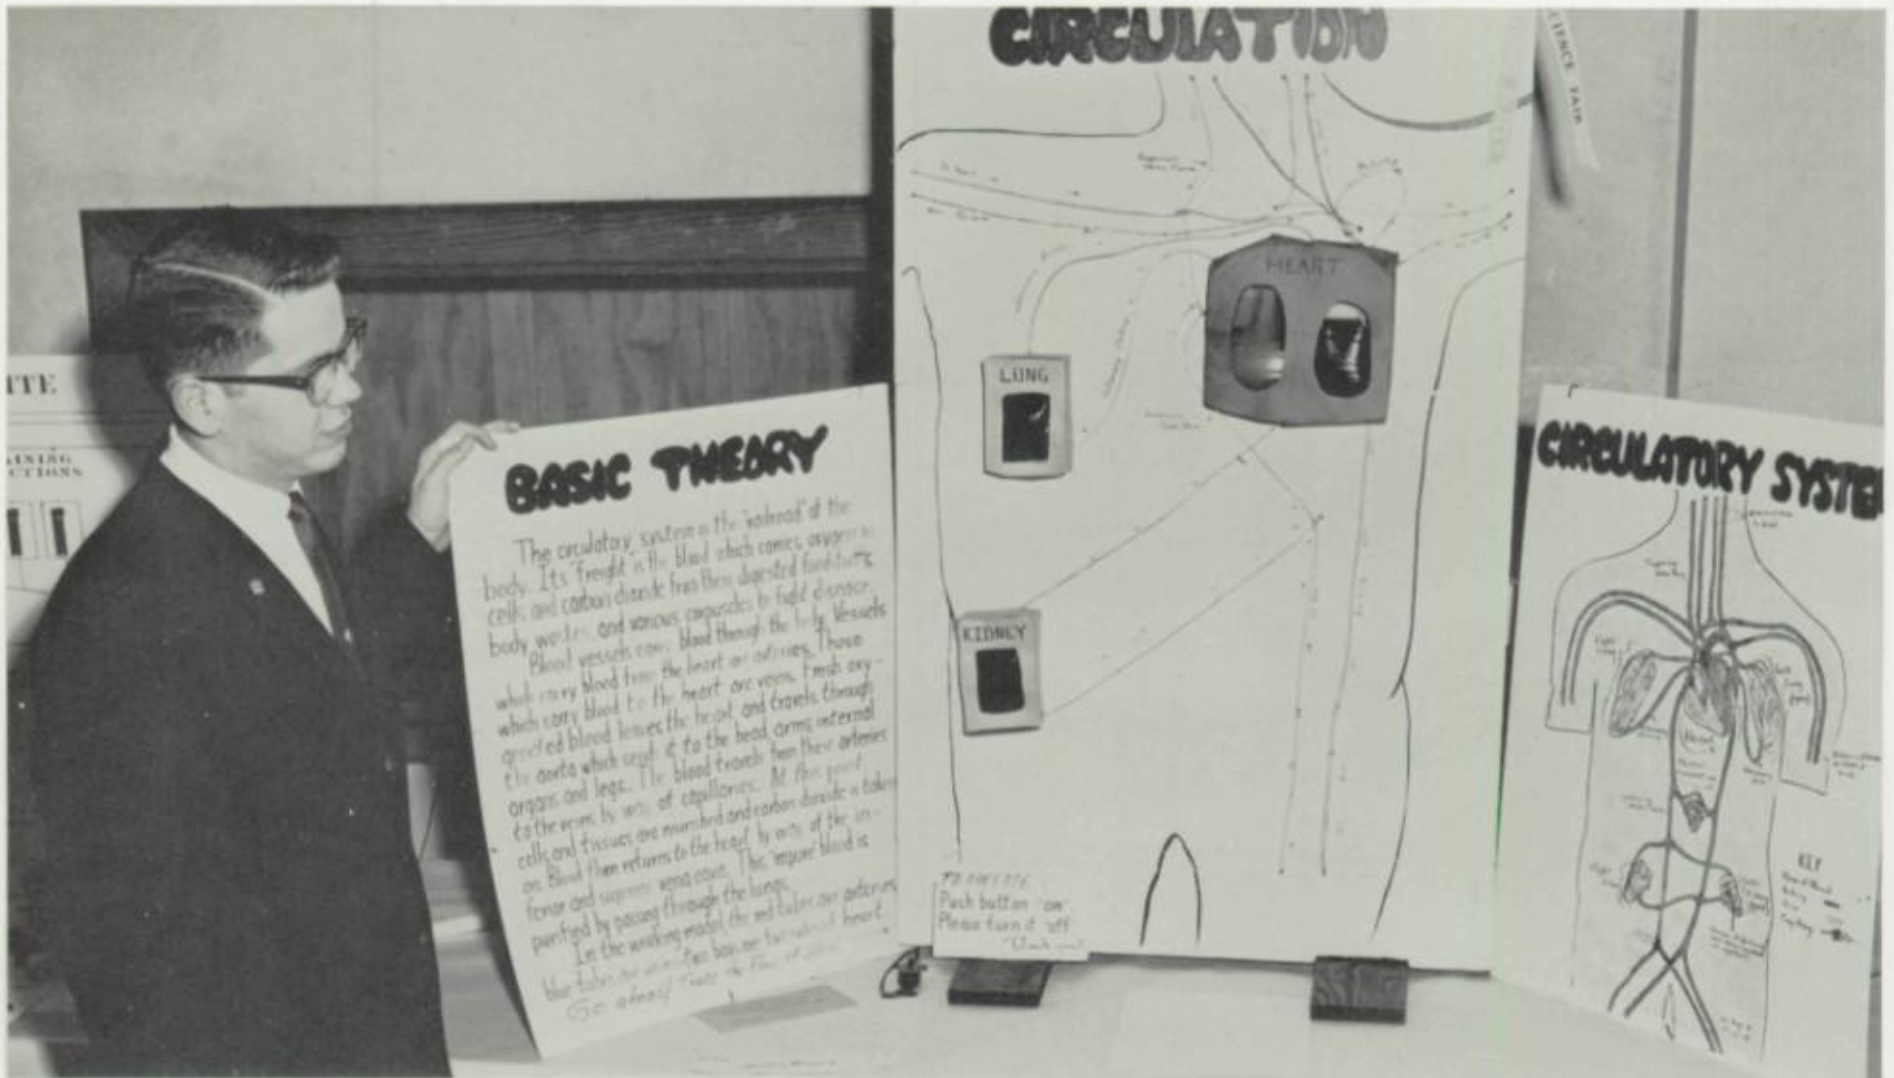

The Junior High science teachers gave the impetus and encouragement that resulted in the beautiful projects submitted by their pupils. To Sister Genevieve, Sponsor of the Science Fair, special credit is due. It takes many weeks of preparation and painstaking effort behind the scenes to make an undertaking, such as this, the real success that it was. Sister and the members of the Science Club did the work and provided the incentive for this second annual Science Fair.

ATHLETICS

Records Set as Crusader

Ron Schneider Practices for Record Throw.

Central High had a newcomer to its sports' program when it added Track and Field—a sport which drew many Central students into active competition with other schools. Most of the athletes taking part were those who never before had participated in the Central High sports' program.

The Crusaders found lack of experience to be their greatest handicap. Performing against schools which had competed for many years previously, the Crusaders did well and showed courage and endurance in their endeavors.

Central fared well in the five meets in which it participated. Sam Higgins, in running events, Steve Dornisch in the mile-run, Jim Shields in broad jumping, and Ronnie Schneider in javelin provided the Crusaders with consistency.

All contestants set school records the first time out and as the season wore on, the distances thrown became longer, and the time for running events, shorter.

The interest shown in track in its first year, and the work put into it by Central thinclads, give every indication that Track and Field are here to stay.

JAMES ENGEL—Sports Writer

The banner of Central High was carried into battle on the hardwood 24 times this year. The Central High Crusaders, under the leadership of Varsity Coach Augustine Spizzirri, emerged victorious 17 times. The record represents the best that Central has produced in three years.

Highlights of the season include a 58-54 victory over the Flying Dutch of St. Marys Public. The win was obtained at Kelley Gym, and in the process, a 41 game winning streak at Kelley was broken for the Public squad. Not only that, but it was the first time in 6 successive contests that the Centralites defeated Public. Much to their disappointment, however, the Church Streeters lost the second game in a close one 47-49. A first in Central's history was their 38-37 victory over Sykesville at Sykesville. In addition to their regular scheduled contest, the Crusaders met Erie Cathedral Prep at Kelley Gym on March 5.

Leading the victorious Crusaders in the scoring column was Charles Kronenwetter. Followers of this Central High cager, cheered, as the tall senior poured 262 points through the evasive orange ring. Dave Burfield with 260 and Charles Wolf, with 190 helped in the scoring chores. Dave Burfield led in the rebounding column with 306, followed by Chuck Wolf with 223.

Junior Varsity Coach Lupton tutored his recruits through a 22 game schedule in which the Little Crusaders struck a record of 12 wins and 10 losses. Leading the Luptonites was Roger Fritz with 338 points.
